

CALL FOR PAPERS

The sustainable Finance research Forum Paris 2023

Entretiens de la Finance Durable Paris 2023

Paris, December 15, 2023

After the great success of its first edition, we are ready to organize the second edition of the "Sustainable Finance research Forum Paris 2023".

Sustainable finance has tremendously transformed ways financial issues are addressed and treated in practice by financial professionals. The conference "Sustainable Finance research Forum Paris 2023" "Entretiens de la Finance Durable", co-organised by the French Finance Association, ESKA Publishing, the Journal "Bankers Markets Investors" and KEDGE Business School seeks papers of applied research covering both questions and possible answers to all relevant issues from a corporate, intermediary and investor point of view. Research must be presented in a scientific rigorous manner and in a way professional experts may read the message.

We welcome notably short papers less than 12 pages with illustrative material that could build on a more theoretical paper. The scientific committee will thus select papers relevant to sustainable finance with the two following criteria, first scientific soundness and innovation, second understandability to professional experts and practical implications. Topics may include notably:

- | | |
|---|------------------------------------|
| • Corporate responsibility | • Climate finance |
| • Corporate governance | • Greenwashing |
| • Corporate culture and values | • Ratings |
| • Social matters and education in firms | • Taxonomy |
| • Green banking | • Responsible investments |
| • Green and Social Bonds | • Long term performance and risks |
| • Impact banking and financial products | • Financial education and literacy |
| | • Impact finance |

In addition to the classic academic presentations the "Entretiens de la Finance Durable" will be a conference where professionals and academics shall express their views during panels dedicated to corporates, intermediaries and investors.
